There have been some new scams going around about the Coronavirus. These usually come through as a text to your phone.

The texts say things like "you've been fined for leaving your house, you must pay a fine of ".

They are made to look like real texts from the Government, using website addresses and web links that look real.

These texts are fake.

If you get a text, ignore and delete it.